

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter of recommendation for Faseeh Lodhi following our time working together as React Native developers within the My Sky App.

Having spent the last 6 months working together, I was impressed by Faseeh's work ethic, technical proficiency and passion for technology. I have worked in the My Sky App for just coming up to 5 years now and am yet to find a junior developer who has shown so much promise.

One of the major projects Faseeh and I worked together on was building a data driven data layer within the app. In Laymen's terms, this was a complex capability that allowed us to send tracking events, generated for example when a user presses a button presses or navigates to a new screen, to multiple vendors, adapting the information we send dependent on the needs of the third party.

Throughout this complex task, Faseeh was more than capable of taking a lead during pairing, and confident to reach out and collaborate with developers in other teams when he needed support. He refactored his code with great attention to detail and produced high quality Typescript solutions with efficient unit tests.

Moreover, Faseeh is a great team player, and easy to work with. Through a variety of different tasks, Faseeh has worked directly with our test team and external stakeholders and has proved himself to be a strong communicator. He is reliable and first to raise his hand to support others.

Finally, Faseeh's passion for technology shines through in his work. When Faseeh faces challenges, he is keen to get to the root cause of the issue and understand how to best implement a solution through research and logical analysis. Resilient and inquisitive, he will always see a problem through to the end and is keen to learn and progress.

I would recommend Faseeh for any software engineering position that requires a technical, hard-working developer with strong communication skills.

Please feel free to contact me should you have any further questions.

Sincerely,

Verity Marsterson
